

PAST TO PRESENT CHEYENNE IS ROOTED IN TREES

Cheyenne's residents have always been progressive about increasing the green infrastructure in our city. In fact, the tree canopy we enjoy today was established as early as 1882!

However, as a result of an aging forest and past extreme weather events, Cheyenne is currently experiencing a high mortality rate in its street tree population.

Our community tree-planting program is critical to maintain our canopy in places where trees are likely to die or have died, as well as extend our forest canopy into areas where trees are less abundant.
